

I support Douglas County's program to bring educational choice to students and families

As usual, the ACLU and allies have filed suit to make sure that they, not parents, will determine the menu of educational choice. That isn't "civil" and it sure isn't "liberty".

Families should choose the best education venue for their children, including public neighborhood schools, charter schools, home education, online education, and private schools. Douglas County is a good school district, but cannot possibly meet the needs of all students and families. With this program, they've again added to their menu of choice.

This program is about families, education and choice, not government, religion and mandates. This program will answer the needs of many students and enhance our district, not bring it down.

I stand with Douglas County in this battle for educational choice!
